Religious Education Syllabus

◆ RATIONALE

The people of the Caribbean live in multi-cultural societies where they are in constant contact with numerous religious ideas. This variety of ideas, along with scientific and technological developments and rapid social changes has led to the questioning of traditional values.

The CSEC Religious Education syllabus is designed to provide students with opportunities to participate in the age-long search of human beings for the meaning and purpose of life, and to facilitate an appreciation and an affirmation of their own sense of uniqueness and identity. It is intended to assist them in understanding the concept of god in religions. It also seeks to help them become aware of the interconnectedness among God, human beings and the world. The syllabus exposes students to different religious ideas, values and ways of expressing them so that they can interact meaningfully with people of different religious and cultural persuasions in the Caribbean and the world.

Further, the syllabus seeks to foster understanding, appreciation and respect for the religious, ethnic, cultural, political and other aspects of plurality in the Caribbean. It is intended that the study of the CSEC Religious Education syllabus will help students to understand their society and the belief systems of others, clarify their own belief systems, deal with problems, and resolve conflicts.

This syllabus will contribute to the development of the Ideal Caribbean Person, by promoting and encouraging the cross-pollination of ideas among students of different ethnic backgrounds, cultures and points of view. The syllabus will also help students to develop intellectually and seeks to refine their critical thinking skills and judgments and the acquisition of skills as defined in the UNESCO pillars of Learning through research and the study of four world religions and indigenous religions found in the Caribbean.

◆ AIMS

This syllabus aims to:

1. develop an understanding of the meaning and purpose of life as advanced by different religions practised in the Caribbean;

2. encourage informed dialogue among various cultural and religious organisations and groups to foster harmony and peace among people of diverse customs and beliefs within the Caribbean;

3. encourage a critical and reflective approach to religious beliefs and practices;

4. encourage appreciation and respect for various belief systems;

5. create an awareness of the diversity and communality that exist in religion;

6. create an awareness of our religious heritage as a Caribbean people.
CRITERIA FOR CONTENT SELECTION

The main considerations which have guided the selection of the content of the syllabus are that the concepts and themes chosen should be:

i. representative of four world religions and indigenous religions found in the Caribbean;

ii. conducive to the exploration of the meaning and purpose of life;

iii. useful in developing knowledge, awareness of and respect for the value placed by others on their religious beliefs and practices;

iv. helpful to students in clarifying their own belief systems, dealing with issues and resolving conflicts.

The term, “Caribbean Indigenous Religions,” as used in the syllabus, acknowledges that all Caribbean religions have both European and African retentions. Over time, these religions have amalgamated, assimilated, integrated, and have evolved into a distinctive Caribbean orientation and mode of expression.

Many indigenous religions may be identified in the region. Since it is not possible to study all of these religions in the time available for the section on Caribbean Indigenous Religions, six have been identified in the syllabus, namely, Rastafari, Revivalism, Vodun, Orisha, Spiritual Baptist and Santería.

ORGANISATION OF THE SYLLABUS

The Religious Education syllabus is made up of a Compulsory Core and four Options. Each candidate must study the Compulsory Core and ONE Option.

CORE

The Core emphasises the beliefs and practices of four world religions and six indigenous religions in the Caribbean. This section is intended to provide a foundation for the study of the central concepts of the religions that will follow in the Options.

OPTIONS

Each Option explores the meaning and purpose of life from the perspective of each religion, and the application of its teaching and principles to the challenges and demands of Caribbean society.

Four religions intended as Options are alphabetically listed below:

APPROACHES TO TEACHING THE SYLLABUS

This syllabus focuses on religious education rather than religious instruction. The emphasis is on the development of knowledge and insight that will enable students to clarify their own beliefs and to understand the belief systems of others.

Religious education is concerned with learning to be humane and helping others to make the best of their own humanity. It explores the mysteries of life, examines the distinction between what is regarded as sacred and what is regarded as profane and teaches respect for the sacred space of others.

As such, religious education is necessary as part of good general education. It is relevant not only for persons who are interested in careers as religious leaders and persons who are interested in personal spirituality or moral development, but also for professionals in several fields, including medicine, law enforcement and social work. In teaching the CSEC Religious Education Syllabus, either the Revised Standard Version (R.S.V) or the New International Version (N. I.V.) of the Bible, the Ramayan, the Bhagvad Geeta, the Qur’an (Koran) and the Tennach (Tenakh) may be used.

SUGGESTED TIME-TABLE ALLOCATION

It is recommended that about 144 hours be time-tabled for coverage of the syllabus.

SCHOOL-BASED ASSESSMENT (40 marks)

School-Based Assessment is an integral part of student assessment in the course covered by this syllabus. It is intended to assist students in acquiring certain knowledge, skills and attitudes that are associated with the subject. The activities for the School-Based Assessment are linked to the syllabus and should form part of the learning activities to enable the student to achieve the objectives of the syllabus.

During the course of study for the subject, students obtain marks for the competence they develop and demonstrate in undertaking their School-Based Assessment assignments. These marks contribute to the final marks and grades that are awarded to students for their performance in the examination.

The guidelines provided in this syllabus for selecting appropriate tasks are intended to assist teachers and students in selecting assignments that are valid for the purpose of School-Based Assessment. The guidelines provided for the assessment of these assignments are intended to assist teachers in awarding marks that are reliable estimates of the achievement of students in the School-Based Assessment component of the course. In order to ensure that the scores awarded by teachers are in line with the CXC standards, the Council undertakes the moderation of a sample of the School-Based Assessment assignments marked by each teacher.

School-Based Assessment provides an opportunity to individualise a part of the curriculum to meet the needs of students. It facilitates feedback to the student at various stages of the experience. This helps to build the self-confidence of students as they proceed with their studies. School-Based Assessment also facilitates the development of the critical skills and abilities that are emphasised by this CSEC subject and enhances the validity of the examination on which candidate performance is reported. School-Based Assessment, therefore, makes a significant and unique contribution to the development of relevant skills and the testing and rewarding of students for the development of those skills.

The Caribbean Examinations Council seeks to ensure that the School-Based Assessment scores are valid and reliable estimates of accomplishment. The guidelines provided in this syllabus are intended to assist in doing so.

GUIDELINES TO TEACHERS FOR THE CONDUCT OF SCHOOL-BASED ASSESSMENT

The School-Based Assessment (SBA) for Religious Education consists of a research paper based on a selected world religion or on any other religion selected from those listed under the topics for research on pages 76 – 78 of the syllabus. It is required of all candidates and will be marked by the teacher in accordance with the criteria set out in the SBA mark scheme on pages 83 – 85 of the syllabus. The guidelines for the research paper are described below.

The SBA is to be marked out of a total of 40 marks and is worth 20% of the overall grade. It focuses equally on the assessment of Profile Dimension 2, Interpretation and Analysis (20 marks) and Profile Dimension 3, Application (20 marks). These profile dimensions are described more fully on page 3 of the syllabus.

Teachers must ensure that candidates hand in their research papers in time to allow for marking and submission to the Council by April 30th in the year of the examination. If audio-visual is used, this should be submitted also with a transcript or any appropriate written documentation.
The Role of the Teacher in Managing School-Based Assessment

Since the SBA is an integral part of the evaluation scheme of the syllabus, teachers are expected to guide and monitor students' progress and assess the finished product according to the criteria set out in the mark scheme.

The teacher is expected to:

1. inform students of the areas available for research;
2. approve students’ research plans;
3. inform students about the deadlines for completion and submission of the report;
4. advise students on the nature of the task and the scope and depth of research required to complete it;
5. advise students on the availability of resource material;
6. monitor students' progress by advising them on the quality of their work in progress and suggesting ways to improve quality;
7. use techniques such as review of students' progress reports and preliminary drafts to establish authenticity of their work;
8. collect and mark the research reports;
9. keep a record of students' marks and submit these together with samples of work as requested by CXC;
10. copy, complete and attach the research proposal to each sample script submitted.

IMPORTANT - The teacher is responsible for ensuring that each student's research report is his or her own work. Plagiarism and cheating will be penalised. A simple way to establish authenticity is to insist on check points for students to show how their work is progressing.

Teachers may also use brief oral questions to verify that candidates did indeed engage in the research activities. Some teachers may require candidates to submit preliminary drafts along with the final version, although only the final version will be assessed.

TOPICS FOR RESEARCH

Teachers should assist students in selecting topics related to one of the following religions specified for guided research:

1. Indigenous Caribbean Religions
   (i) Rastafari

The Research Paper

Each candidate must submit a research paper of 1,000 words, not including table of contents, bibliography and appendices. A total of 10 per cent of the candidate’s score will be deducted for any research paper in excess of 1,000 words (excluding tables, direct quotations, footnotes, references and appendices). The following criteria are provided to guide candidates in preparing the research paper:
1. Presentation

The criterion includes a table of content, illustrations, presentation of research paper (proper compilation, neatness of document) and bibliography (author or editor, title, place of publication, publishers, date).

2. Statement of Aims

This criterion includes a basic outline of all that the candidate hopes to achieve and discover at the end of the study.

3. Information Collection

This criterion includes a description of how, when, where information was collected, including instruments or questionnaires if any were used. Library research is acceptable.

4. Summary of Findings

This criterion includes the actual documentation of relevant facts and findings discovered through research.

5. Analysis and Interpretation of Information Collected

Candidates need to display an understanding of the issues related to the topic chosen. Critical thinking should be encouraged as candidates are asked to analyse and interpret the information presented. This criterion requires clarity of explanation and as such, calls upon the candidate to demonstrate this ability.

6. Conclusions

This criterion requires that the candidate summarise the main ideas of the research paper and draw conclusions from the material which they analyse.

7. Communication of Information

This criterion refers to the communication of information in a logical way, using correct grammar.

(See pages 83 - 85 for guidelines for marking the research paper).

The following are suggested areas of research- Festivals, Worship, Rituals, Code of Ethics, Basic Beliefs, Leadership, Origins and Development.

Preparing the Research Paper

1. The research should be conducted prior to the second term of the final year and the research paper written during that term. The paper should be assessed by the teacher. Marks must be submitted online using the SBA data capture module of the Online Registration System (ORS).

2. The research paper should be in a simple soft-back folder of “Quarto” or “A4” size. Candidate’s registration number, title of the research paper and the name of the school should be clearly written on the folder AND on the FIRST inside page. The research paper should be neatly written or typed.
3. Teachers should discourage duplication of material, that is, although two candidates may write on the same topic, there must be evidence of individual work. Group research is allowed but student must write individual reports.

Notes to Teachers

1. The research paper allows the student to choose from topics related to one of the selected world religions or on any other religion, denomination or sect selected from those listed under the topics for research pages 76 - 78 and provides an opportunity for self-directed learning in which the student can assume responsibility for conducting an enquiry. The student’s work can be improved by:

   (i) stimulation of interest in religious beliefs and practices;
   (ii) an awareness of strategies, concepts and principles involved in the research.

2. The teacher should provide specific guidance in:

   (i) the selection of an appropriate and manageable topic;
   (ii) the presentation of illustrative material;
   (iii) the presentation of written information (format);
   (iv) the methods of interpretation of information collected;
   (v) identifying resource materials and making available materials accessible to candidates. An on-going programme of collection and documentation of material is necessary.

3. Teachers should assist in fostering the development in their students of the skills related to students in comprehension, analysis and synthesis of information.

4. Many of the difficulties connected with research projects can be avoided if careful thought is given to the timing of the work so that it:

   (i) avoids serious clashes with students’ workload in other subjects;
   (ii) allows sufficient time for the students to have acquired some familiarity with appropriate research techniques;
   (iii) gives adequate time for individual supervision by the teacher;
   (iv) allows sufficient time after students have completed their research papers for teachers to meet assessment deadlines.

5. The following are suggested areas for research:

   (i) festivals;
   (ii) rituals;
   (iii) worship;
(iv) code of ethics;
(v) basic beliefs;
(vi) origins and development;
(vii) leadership.

This list is not exhaustive and students may choose to investigate other topics relevant to the content and objectives of the syllabuses.

♦ MODERATION OF SCHOOL-BASED ASSESSMENT

School-Based Assessment Record Sheets are available online via the CXC’s website www.cxc.org.

All School-Based Assessment Record of marks must be submitted online using the SBA data capture module of the Online Registration System (ORS). A sample of assignments will be requested by CXC for moderation purposes. These assignments will be re-assessed by CXC Examiners who moderate the School-Based Assessment. Teachers’ marks may be adjusted as a result of moderation. The Examiners’ comments will be sent to schools. All samples must be delivered to the specified marking venues by the stipulated deadlines.

Copies of the students’ assignments that are not submitted must be retained by the school until three months after publication by CXC of the examination results.

(ii) Shri Rama, through no fault of his own, went into exile for 14 years instead of being crowned King. His life exemplified the duty of a son to a father since he went into exile because he understood the position of his father the King and wanted to help him keep his word.

He emphasized the virtue of sacrifice and considered what was good for other persons without thinking of himself first; he was not self-seeking. His life illustrated the virtue of steadfastness in difficult situations since he maintained his dignity and nobility even in exile and remained true to himself under all circumstances.

He exercised the duties of King justly to his subjects and made personal sacrifice to uphold leadership values when he exiled the Queen as an example to his subjects in relation to faithfulness.

- he/she will be able to show gratitude to all he or she encounters. Even though Shri Krishna was involved in childish pranks he taught great lessons of life which included gratitude.
- he/she will be able to show justice in dealing with issues. In dealing with the Pandawas and Kuravas with respect to the claim of the throne of Hastnapur, Krishna showed justice.
- he/she will be humble. In spite of Shri Krishna’s status in society, he was considerate to the lowly and the meek e.g. the treatment meted out to Sudama the poor Brahmin.

The Torah clearly teaches that one should save the life of one who is being pursued. While in this case the abortion is deemed to be a form of murder, the one taking the life would not be punished because he/she was acting out the obligation to save life.&lt;br&gt;• In the main, abortions are allowed only in the cases where the life of the mother is in danger. This means that there is a definite possibility that the mother would die if the foetus continues to develop. In this event, the foetus would be considered as a pursuer of the life of the mother.&lt;br&gt;And any other appropriate passage&lt;br&gt;Any two – 1 mark each</td>
<td>(c) (i) Dear Ruben,&lt;br&gt;While it is clear that you love Sarah, you must also acknowledge that her pregnancy is the promise of the gift of life given by God. According to the Torah, you know that bringing a child into this world is a holy act. At the same time, however, you also know that sexual intercourse is expected only within marriage. You must be clear that the present situation is not to be seen as retribution from God. God is merciful. It would have been good for both you and Sarah to wait until marriage before you bring a child into the world. However, God is also forgiving.&lt;br&gt;And any other appropriate passage&lt;br&gt;Any two – 1 mark each</td>

At the same time, abortion is not permissible in the cases of rape. The foetus may not be a human person, but it can be denied life only if it presents clear danger to the life of the mother. Such a determination can be made only by competent authority, that is, Rabbis after hearing the views of the doctor.

In Judaism, God is the only giver of life and generally it is understood that God is the only one allowed to take away life. It is also understood that the Torah exists to make life possible, not to shorten or destroy it. Consequently, any action or activity which endangers life or shortens it is forbidden. For human beings to take away life, is for human beings to usurp the rights and functions of God. This is generally unacceptable.

You know that for us the unborn child is not considered as a human life. Your unborn child is the potential of life. But Sarah is a living person. Your concern must be for her and her life. Her life was given to her by God and all must be done to maintain her life.

Are you certain that the doctor has been explicit that the foetus is detrimental to the health of Sarah? Has he offered any other possibility, however slim, for the foetus to be saved? Please note that it is only your doctor who can advise you of this and you should accept no other opinion. There should be a clear evaluation from your doctor that it is almost certain that the mother would otherwise die. If such an evaluation is not done, then the reason for abortion cannot be substantiated.

Jewish Rabbis agree that:
- Study and recitation of the Torah make the individual closer to Yahweh and eventually a lover of God. Religious development stems from improved devotion and heightened personal ethics, and these developments stem directly from Torah study itself.
- When one is immersed in the study of the Torah, then one is brought into a greater awareness of God as divine and that every dynamic both cleanses and enables the personality.
- A study of the Torah can and should prompt wholesome values and allow for the young person to become morally sensitive. This is certainly the impetus for ongoing moral development.

with the free will of human beings. It is human beings by their choice of evil that caused the Holocaust. However, God is present in all things and it must be understood that God was with His people as they passed through that horror. God fills the earth and it must be accepted that God heard the cries of His people and understood their pain.

Some would argue that the experience of the Holocaust was the punishment of God on His people for their sinfulness. Similar to the pain inflicted by the experience of the exile to Babylon. For those who hold this thought, God continued to be merciful and omnipotent but there was a lesson that God had to teach His people. In this regard although a painful experience, it was one of love for His people in order for their long term good.

Excellent argument – logical, very clear, fully developed, fully supported by Scriptural references

(9 - 10 marks)
(b) (ii) The view that God is omnipotent and merciful is challenged in situations of suffering; caused by natural causes or by human action.

- In the event of a natural disaster, the question can be asked why the omnipotent and merciful God would have allowed the disaster to be brought upon His people. Why would He permit the degree of suffering and pain that occurred in the passages of hurricanes. If He is merciful, it would seem that God has ignored the cries of His people.

- The second way in which this view is challenged is in the event of human cruelty. While it is understood that human beings have free will and are not controlled like puppets by God, still why would God allow human beings to be permitted to violate and inflict pain on others?

Modern day Jews light the candles of the Menorah as a symbol of thanksgiving for the miracles and the wonders, for the redemption and the battles that their forefathers experienced at the hand of Yahweh. During all eight days of Chanukah, the sacred lights are viewed and welcomed in every home in order to express thanks and praise to the name of Yahweh. The celebration which involves the preparation of special meals, the giving of gifts and the spinning of the dreidel (spinning top) is geared toward the giving of adoration and the paying of homage to the Elohim, Israel’s God.

- The close proximity to Christmas as a Christian festival has rubbed off on Chanukah celebrations. Chanukah is now being seen as a sort of Jewish equivalent to Christmas. Fewer Jews observe the High Holy Days, Shabbat and even Passover, while more and more identify Judaism as a gift-giving cult centred on Chanukah.

- With the lighting of candles, the giving of gifts, and the singing of special holiday songs, Chanukah can be easily relegated to a mere extension of Christmas.

- There is criticism that the festival offers the opportunity for star-gazing. This is so because there is a stipulation that the Chanukah candles should be sufficient to burn at least thirty minutes after the stars come out on the first night of the festival. Both observations, of course, would negatively affect the social and religious life of both... |

- Positively, although Chanukah was initiated by Jewish Rabbis over two centuries ago, it continues to encourage Jews today. Chanukah is a time of commemorating the heroic acts of those who face discomfort and death to honour the laws of Yahweh.
